The friends of the change complain of the awkwardness of the present name, and think the substitution of the one in popular use for a time in the earlier days in this country would better express the generous, comprehensive character which they claim their Church has, and that the new name would be more in accordance with primitive nage. The opponents of the change contend that the present name conveys well the exact position of this church, as protesting against certain errors, and as setting gorth clearly their belief in the form of polity adopted. The proposal to make this change will come up in the form of a memorial, and will give rise, it is thought, to a debate which will be of considerable interest; for a discussion of this matter can hardly go on without bringing up many points of vital consequence. Another topic which is likely to awaken interest in the gaissionary work, especially the machinary for carrying it on. There has been quite wonderful growth of the miseions of this Church, particularly in the West, and it is proposed now to add to the number of hashops, and to simplify, if possible, the measures for collecting funds to sustain them and other missions, with its four departments—is rather cumber of the consideration of missionary question will awaken a great deal of entinesses.

BRIGHAM YOUNG'S WILL.

an Estate Worth $2,000,000 Divided Among Seventeen Wives and torty-tour Children. SALT LAKE CITY, September 3.—Brig-ham Young's will was read to-day in the presence of all his wives and children and a few friends. Brigham Young, Jr., George O. Cannon and Albert Carrington are named as his executors. The estatate is largely real estate, and is probably are named as his executors. The estatate is largely real estate, and is probably worth $2,000,000. The will was made four years ago, and his youngest child, born of Mary Van Cott, was then three years old. Brigham Young was the father of fifty-six children, and left seventeen wives exteen sons, and-wenty-eight daughters. The will aims to make an equitable division of the property between all the wives and children, with no preference to any. Most of them have already had something deeded to them. On this a valuation was set, and it is to be charged to the recipients as part of their share, though not necessarily at the valuation he put on it. That is to be equitably adjusted when the estate is divided, upon the youngest child coming of age. Meanwhile the income is to go to the various mothers according to the number or their children, and they can withhold it if the children behave badly. All are provided for as far as their present needs are concerned. His first wife and Amelia are given a life interest in the Amelia palace—a large, modern, new fine house, but he is known to have changand Amelia are given a life Interest in the Amelia palace—a large, modern, new fine house, but he is known to have changed his mind about that, chiefly because they declined it for reasons best known to themselves, although nothing in or out of the will has yet come to light showing it, and they are not otherwise provided for except by their share of the income. Decembed held many interests in trust for the Church and for individuals. His executors are directed to turn them over properly. The Church is forbidden by law to hold more than $59,000 worth of property, and so it was largely held by Brigham Young in trust. His friends will not entertain the notion that he ever abused that trust. There is no inventory of the that trust. There is no inventory of the property on the estate, and it is widely scattered. With the country prosperous and full of money it would be worth twice he above valuation. Recently Brighan the above valuation. Recently Brigham Young endbwed an academy with lands at Provo and another at Logan—the lat-ter with 12,000 acres. He had determined to endow one at Salt Lake, but did not live long enough to do so.
